TAFT PLANS FOR A WORLD'S PEACE

WILL TAKE THE INITIAL STEPS IN SUCH A MOVEMENT AT ONCE, MAKES PUBLIC STATEMENT.

WOULD ABOLISH WARFARE

President Believes the Time is Ripe for Such a Movement and That United States Should Be the Leader.

(Copyrighted by United Press.)
Washington, March 27.—The abolition of war is not a dream of theorists but a practical end of a practical plan, which, according to President Taft today, promises to mark one of the greatest steps in the history of the world through the medium of arbitration. The President has taken the lead in a great movement of the nations looking toward realization of the plan of disarmament of the powers. Through a special interview with the United Press, today, his first on the subject, President Taft says the United States ought to be first in the practical plan to abolish war. He says that arbitration will surely come as a means of settling international disputes and that a treaty with Great Britain should be first. This treaty may appear at this session of congress, he declared.

No Peace Yet.
San Antonio, March 27.—That until President Diaz and Vice President Corral are out of office in Mexico there can be no peace. This was the statement in substance made by Alfonso Madro, brother of the revolutionary leader, here today.

Them.

(By United Press.)
San Antonio, Texas, March 27.—Upon a meeting to be held this week, possibly in San Antonio, but more likely in the mountains of Chihuahua, will depend the fate of the republic of Mexico. The Madero family, father and two sons, here today, are believed to have received peace overtures from

ROME SCENE OF GAY FESTIVITIES TODAY FOR ITALIAN UNITY

Whole Nation is Joining in the Celebration Which Began At Midnight
With Firing of Guns and Ringing of Bells.

(By Associated Press.)
Rome, March 27.—The celebration of the jubilee of the Italian Unity is in progress today. At midnight a gun was fired and the bell of the capitol was rung. From that hour the city was astir. Bands playing patriotic airs traversed the principal streets, which were bright with lights and a crowd filled all the squares.

Some disorders attempted to approach the Vatican, but were turned back by the police.

During the morning hours King Victor Emmanuel, Queen Helen, the Ministry, diplomats, members of parliament and others at the capitol, where speeches were made. King Victor Emmanuel was one of the speakers.

Milwaukee, March 27.—Forty men of the Chicago fire department arrived

RELATIVES SEEK TO FIND BODIES OF LOVED ONES

ALL BUT FORTY-SEVEN OF DEAD IN NEW YORK HOLOCAUST IDENTIFIED.

FIRE LAWS OF NEW YORK

Lax As They Are Declared To Be, Were Criminally Violated in Building Which Burned

(By United Press.)
New York, March 27.—Of the 112 dead in New York's horrible fire holocaust, all but forty-seven had been identified today. Standing all night in a rainstorm a line of anxious relatives and friends of the dead that sought to file by the rough pine coffins at the Charles Fler morgue, increased and at nine o'clock today more than a thousand fairly fought to gain an entrance to the building. As fast as identified, the lids were placed and clamped on the coffins and the boxes tagged. Fourteen are in hospitals today. Five will probably die.

Law Were Violated.
Facing the fact that at least 150 loft buildings in Manhattan alone, are veritable fire traps and a horror exceeding that of the Triangle Shirt Waist factory, in which 142 persons died, is possible at any time, immediate plans to remedy the situation were on foot today. District Attorney Whitman today examined fifty persons who had knowledge of the fire in the building. It is already set forth that the fire laws in New York are criminally lax and despite this almost every clause of the laws was violated in connection with the burned building.

What Papers Say.
What New York papers say in part: American: "The frightful catastrophe was not a mere accident."
Press: "Responsibility is too difficult."
Herald: "Shall steps be taken to secure adequate fire regulations?"
World: "Loft buildings by the dozens are being built today, which are legal fire traps."
Times: "New laws are needed."
Tribune: "It was not an act of God but an act of man."

Fire Chief Croker said today: "We need laws which will give us not merely fireproof but death proof buildings."
No Overhead Wires.
Indianapolis, Ind., March 27.—Overhead electric wires here to be done away with is the result of the New York fire. They are considered a menace.

That the actual responsibility for the holocaust rests with John Williams, state superintendent of labor, from whose office the fire traps building was "O. K'd," was the statement this afternoon of District Attorney Whitman following an inspection of the burned building. The cause of the fire, according to a report of Fire Marshal Kees this afternoon, was a lighted match or cigarette thrown into flimsy cloth waste on the floor.

Up to late this afternoon there were thirty-five unidentified bodies in the morgue, all charred forms bearing no resemblance to human beings.

Belief funds for burial and other purposes from scores of sources are under way today. In the report filed by Hester and forwarded to the district attorney it was found that if all the 750 employees had marched to the inadequate fire escapes, it would have taken three hours for them to have gotten out of the building.

Articles of Incorporation: Papers were filed today with the register of deeds, showing the formation of a stock company in Beloit to be known as the City Ice Company. The capital stock is $20,000 and the incorporators are J. A. Juvett, E. R. Brantigan and Anna Brantigan.

SEVERE CRITICISM OF SALE OF OPIUM

British Government Censured for Tacit Acquiescence to Importation of Drug Into China.

(By United Press.)
Washington, March 27.—President Taft may want peace and friendship with Great Britain, but the International Reform Bureau here, is dead against John Bull because of his opium selling operations in China. In a special statement just issued by Wilbur F. Crafts, Superintendent of the Bureau, Great Britain is severely censured for her tacit acquiescence in the importation of Indian opium into China, while joining the international crusade against the drug. Within the past few days, an international anti-opium convention at Peking appointed delegates to urge upon the British Government abrogation of the agreement which would permit the sale of Indian opium in China for several years longer. The Chinese government has prohibited opium smoking after the year.

"The Hon." Mr. Crafts declared, "Following a resolution of the British Parliament requesting the government to bring the Indo-Chinese opium trade to a speedy close, the Chinese Government ordered the closing of opium dens in six months, and the gradual suppression of all poppy raising and the use of the drug during ten years, during which period also the British Government agreed to decrease the export of opium to China to the same degree, if during three years trial China reduced not less than one-tenth a year."

"Instead of reducing three-tenths, China has now reduced its own poppy cultivation and opium trade, seven-tenths in three years, reform in spite of the sale of British opium all the while, that the new Chinese Parliament has already decreed opium prohibition to take effect in one year, subject to imperial approval."

"The Chinese government has recently asked the British government to release it from the ten years agreement and also from the opium treaties, secured by three opium wars, but the British government has persistently refused China's request. It is strongly supported by the British people in numerous petitions, although India has received as much revenue in three years as was expected in ten."

LAD WENT TWO DAYS WITHOUT ANY FOOD

Six-Year Old Boy, Lost in Woods Near Neillville, Suffers No Serious Effects of Experience.

(By United Press.)
Neillville, Wis., March 27.—Missing, without food or shelter for over 48 hours and found yesterday seated between two stumps in the woods not far from his home, the six-year old child of John Glast suffers no serious effects today. The child, lost and run when he saw his rescuers approaching.

FEARED POISONING AND KILLED WIFE

Farmer Living Near Plover Killed Spouse Whom He Thought Had Given Him Poison in Food.

(By United Press.)
Stevens Point, Wis., March 27.—Lamenting under the delusion that his wife had poisoned him, August Kreuger, a farmer living near Plover, emptied the contents of a double-barreled shot gun into her breast yesterday, killing her. Kreuger became violently ill after eating breakfast Saturday morning. The shooting followed yesterday morning. Kreuger was the fourth husband of the woman.

TEDDY TO SPEAK TO WISCONSIN SOLONS

Roosevelt Will Deliver Address Before Legislature On His Way East On April Fifteenth.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Madison, Wis., March 27.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt will address the Wisconsin legislature on Saturday, April 15. Arrangements have been made by the exchange of several telegrams between Speaker Charles A. Ingram of the Wisconsin assembly and Col. Roosevelt, who is now at Berkeley, Cal.

Col. Roosevelt will appear before the legislature by virtue of a resolution passed at the beginning of the session giving authority to the speaker to invite notable persons to speak to the solons. Already advantage has been taken of this prerogative in several instances, including the appearance of Mrs. Spilly Bishop, Sir Horace Pimmett and Booker T. Washington.

Last Thursday night Speaker Ingram sent the following telegram to Col. Roosevelt:

"Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, care Ben. J. L. Wheeler, Berkeley, Cal.: I extend to you invitation to address the Wisconsin legislature on your way east. Midweek date preferred. Please wire reply and advise of date as early as possible."

Charles A. Ingram, speaker.

The speaker received the following message of acceptance Sunday: "San Francisco, Cal., March 25, 1911. "Hon. Charles A. Ingram, Madison, Wis. Am greatly honored by invitation to address the Wisconsin legislature. Unfortunately it is a physical impossibility for me to get there the middle of the week. The best I can do morning of Saturday, April 15th. Will the legislature then be in session? Please answer me frankly and on no account must the legislature be put to any inconvenience. Greatly regret I cannot accept for the middle of the week as you suggest."

Theodore Roosevelt.

To this message Speaker Ingram replied as follows:

"Theodore Roosevelt, San Francisco, Cal.: Legislature will be in session April 15th. Will be pleased to have you accept invitation on that date. Charles A. Ingram, speaker."

Speaker Ingram stated today that the address of Mr. Roosevelt will be made during the forenoon, at an hour to be fixed later. It is a foregone conclusion that the assembly chamber will be packed to the limit during the speech. There is a desire on the part of the university authorities to have the colonel address the students at the gymnasium during the day also, but the plans already made are hardly likely to be changed to permit this.

Col. Roosevelt spoke last in Wisconsin on the night of the primaries last fall and at that time made no reference to Senator La Follette. Since then, his articles on nationalism in the Outlook have been so permeated with the spirit of the progressives that it is freely predicted he will make important admissions upon the nature of the movement and its leaders.

LEGISLATURE WILL PASS A FIRE LAW

Measure Now Pending Certain of Passage Following New York's Catastrophe, Is Reported Today.

(By United Press.)
Madison, March 27.—As a result of New York's Saturday fire horror a measure now pending before the Wisconsin legislature providing punishment for owners of buildings who allow a large number of people to be employed who fail to provide outward egress doors for precaution against fire jams, will be speedily made a law. This statement is heard on every hand today.

DROPS DEAD WHILE PREACHING SERMON

Minister Dies Suddenly From Heart Failure in Church at Watertown.

(By United Press.)
Incident, March 27.—Rev. F. M. Pratt, aged 37, pastor of the First Methodist church at Watertown, Wis., dropped dead in the pulpit and into the arms of Elmer Anderson, a member of the choir, yesterday morning while in the midst of the sermon. His parishioners have started a subscription for his wife and three small children. Heart failure was the cause of death. Rev. Pratt's home city was Dixon, Ill., although he was reared on a farm near Elmhurst, Ill.

Dies of Anemia.
Chippewa Falls, Wis., March 27.—City Attorney John A. Anderson is dead here today from anemia after an illness of nearly three weeks. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in the class of 1873, a classmate of Senator and Mrs. Robert M. La Follette and President Charles R. Van Hise, now president of the university.

Dies Suddenly.
Daneville, Ill., March 27.—J. B. Martin, aged 53, editor of the Enterprise, dropped dead in his office today of apoplexy.

NO PARDONS FOR
MORSE OR WALSH

President Will Not Grant Freedom to New York and Chicago Bankers Convicted and Now Serving Terms.

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, D. C., March 27.—From sources close to the President it was learned today that the pardon appeals of the two convicted bankers, Charles W. Morse of New York and John R. Walsh of Chicago, will undoubtedly be denied. It is stated that the attorney general's recommendation in both cases is adverse, and the President will follow his findings.

FOUR MEASURES VERY IMPORTANT

GOOD ROADS, WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION, MARY ANN BILL AND CORRUPT PRACTICES BEFORE LEGISLATURE.

BUSY WEEK IS PLANNED

Much Important Legislation is to Be Cared for During the Present Week.

(By United Press.)
Madison, Wis., March 27.—Good roads, workmen's compensation, second choice at primary elections and corrupt practices at elections are four big subjects, scheduled for consideration by the Wisconsin legislature this week. All of these subjects have been given considerable study by members of the legislature during the past three or four years, and it is believed the time has arrived for definite action on them.

The senate will discuss and act on the good roads and workmen's compensation propositions, and the assembly on the second choice and corrupt practices measures.

Several bills on the subject of good roads are in the legislature, and all provide for state supervision in construction of public highways, with the state paying part of the cost of the work. The bill which will come before the senate during the present week is one prepared by Senators J. S. Donald and E. E. Browne, it being scheduled for special order of business Tuesday evening. The measure in brief provides for a state commission consisting of the dean of the college of agriculture of the state university, dean of the college of engineering of that institution, and a third member to be appointed from the state at large by the governor. The commissioners are to serve without pay. The bill carries an appropriation of $250,000 annually for state aid in making and maintaining roads. The appropriation of this money is to be based on the amounts raised by the different counties of the state for a similar purpose. The question of state aid for the construction of highways has been a long agitated subject within the state and the platform of some of the political party leaders last fall promised legislation on it.

The workmen's compensation bill is scheduled as the special order of business in the senate Wednesday morning. The pending measure is the result of two years' work on the part of a special legislative committee, and as expressed by students of the subject it is declared to be the best solution ever yet offered in any state of the union. The fact that the highest court of the state of New York has just declared a law similar to the Wisconsin bill, unconstitutional, does not, it is said, bring forth any serious doubts regarding the constitutionality of the latter because the New York decision apparently turned on the issue that the law in that state abridged the right of contract. In the Baden measure, this condition does not exist. It is declared by those familiar with the pending act. The purpose of the bill is that losses occasioned by bodily injury to employees in industrial accidents should be met by the industry. In the first instance in place of the wage earner or his dependents. The Wisconsin bill creates a state commission of three members to administer the act.

It provides that the employer shall pay the injured employee or his dependents a certain compensation based on his average wages which, roughly stated, runs from 65 per cent of such wages for a limited time for temporary disability to four times the annual wages for total permanent disability or death. If the employee does not elect to come under the provisions of the bill, the employer has the defenses against damages that he now has, which are assumption of risk, contributory negligence and fellow-servant negligence. The act is limited to apply to employers of over four persons.

The proposition to give the voter an opportunity to express his second choice for candidates for office at the primary elections is an issue that has been aired by the past three legislatures. Senator La Follette, when governor, urged the passage of a law granting this privilege to the voter, but as expressed by an up-state progressive senator, "Some wag couldn't figure out how it could be done any easier than he could solve the problem, 'How old is Ann,' dubbed it the 'Mary Ann' bill," which was largely responsible for its failure to become a law. The general concern (Continued On Page 8)

LAST COLD NIP OF WINTER IS COMING

Temperature of Weather Will Drop Following Rains of Yesterday and Saturday.

(By United Press.)
Milwaukee, March 27.—Wisconsin will tonight see the last nip of winter weather. The following statement was given to the United Press today by Forecaster Doveaux: "Greatly needed rains have fallen Saturday from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic coast. A cold wave will follow in the interior of Wisconsin tonight the temperature will drop to zero. The cold wave will probably be the last and of short duration."

DIAZ PLANS RADICAL CHANGES IN CABINET.

Top row, left to right, General Corral, President Diaz of Mexico, General Reyes. Below, Jose Yves Limantour, Enrique Creel.

Washington, D. C., March 27.—The forming of the new cabinet in Mexico will go far toward accomplishing the ends of peace in this turbulent republic. General Corral, as secretary of war, is very unpopular with the masses. His resignation, accepted by President Diaz, will take effect immediately, and in his stead will be placed General Reyes, a man popular throughout the country. Enrique Creel, formerly ambassador to the United States, but now in charge of the foreign office, is to be transferred from the cabinet position back to the United States as ambassador, and in his stead will be placed Jose Yves Limantour.

DIAZ PLANS RADICAL CHANGES IN CABINET.

Other changes, it is stated, include the placing of Roberto Nunez in charge of the treasury department, and making Jose Soli minister of justice.

GLEE CLUB SANG AT HIGH SCHOOL TODAY

Carroll College Students Rendered Several Selections At Opening Exercises and Dr. Carrier Spoke.

This morning at the local high school, the students were entertained with a few comic selections rendered by the Carroll College Glee Club. Not all of the club were present, as a part of the boys had gone to Madison.

Following the short musical program, Dr. Carrier, president of Carroll College, spoke to the students for about ten minutes. He spoke of the opportunities before the young people of today. He emphasized the fact that to meet these opportunities, everyone must prepare him or herself with a good education. Boys and girls who seek to drop school at the end of the course in the grades can not be depended upon to bear the brunt of this nation's progress or to make a success of their own lives. Neither can the students in high schools, who skim through their studies with just a passing average when they are able to have an average of 90 or 100 per cent hope to make a success. Some students are not gifted with a brilliant intellect, but all may develop that "plugging away spirit" which in time will gain notice and win fame.

Above all he asked that each one keep from bad habits which in time tend to crush one's physical and moral being, for it is always easier to catch a habit than to free oneself from its hold. And in the end he asked why, if a high school education was so good, a college training was not as good in proportion? And so he left with the students the question should they go to college?

NEW BILL AIMED AT CORRUPT PRACTICES

Measure Embodying Important Provision Will Be Reported in Assembly Wednesday.

(Special to the Gazette.)

Madison, Wis., March 27.—A new corrupt practices bill, embodying several new and important provisions, is being given the final touches by the assembly committee on elections, and will probably be reported on Wednesday. The measure is a substitute for the corrupt practices bill of Assemblyman Clark and Kay and of Senator Huston. In the conference on the bill the committee has had the advice of Governor McVernon, Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris, Senator Huston and others, and it may be taken to represent the executive's views on the subject.

The bill is largely the product of Assemblyman Roycraft, chairman of the committee, who has given much conscientious labor to its drafting, and he was given aid of great value by other members of the committee—Messrs. Mahon, Monson, Spear, Ludlow, Hofstetter and Kahn. Work has been done upon it for the past six weeks.

The present bills upon the subject are devoid of several of the features of the substitute. One provision will be the publication of a book of state office candidates only in the bills present stage, but which may be inclusive of senators, assemblymen and congressmen in the final draft, a strong sentiment having been shown for this provision. This pamphlet, to be published at state expense, will contain statements about the candidate's life, his personal information, his attitude toward public interests, etc. Furthermore, and as marking the effectiveness of the proposed law, it is to be provided that such statements must be filed with the secretary of state, which office shall prepare the booklet.

Limitations as to the amount a candidate may expend in primary and election campaigns will be an important feature of the act. The committee is now wrestling with the problem of how high these amounts shall be. Weekly reports on expenditures must be made by the candidate, his committee or manager.

A provision as yet untried anywhere makes a candidate elected through corrupt practices, in violation of this act, subject to disqualification. On petition through legal channels, a candidate so violating the law may be brought before a circuit court, to be tried by the judge in chambers in or out of term, for failure to abide by the law in the above respect. This disqualification liability is in addition to the liability to criminal prosecution, and makes the corrupt practices act nearly absolutely protective of the interests of justice in elections as can well be conceived.

OBITUARY.

Stephen Leary.

Stephen Leary passed away last evening about seven o'clock at his home, 611 Court street, after an illness of six weeks. The deceased was born in the county of Mayo, Ireland, Dec. 24, 1837, and upon arriving in manhood came to this country to seek his fortune here. He settled in Colorado but in 1878 he moved to Burlington where he lived until some eighteen years ago when he moved to Janesville. He has made his home here since that time and won a host of friends who will be grieved to learn of his death. He was a kind and loving husband and father and the loss will be deeply felt in the family circle where the familiar face will be seen no more.

He leaves a son, Daniel Leary of this city, and two daughters, Mrs. M. R. Kennedy, residing in Montana, and Miss Nellie Leary of this city. The funeral will be held Tuesday morning at nine o'clock from St. Mary's church and interment will be made at Burlington, the remains leaving here at 10:30 over the C. & M. & St. Paul railroad.

Mrs. Emily Seidmore.

Mrs. Emily Seidmore passed quietly away Saturday evening about six o'clock at her home, 562 Linn street. She had suffered a stroke of paralysis some twelve years ago and had been a partial invalid since that time.

Mrs. Seidmore was sixty-eight years of age and was one of the old residents of the county, and lived here since before the Civil war. She was married to Stephen Seidmore in the town of Deloit, April 9, 1855. To their union were born seven children: Miss Clara Seidmore of this city; Mrs. Henry Raymond of Deloit, J. A. and Clara of this city; Fred of Elgin, Ill.; Wesley of Hanover, and Abner of Deloit.

The deceased was a kind and devoted wife and mother and many friends extend sincere sympathy to the family in their time of sorrow. Funeral services will be held from the home Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock and interment will be made in the cemetery in the town of Plymouth.

Miss Martha Paulson.

Miss Martha Paulson passed away at the home of her mother, Mrs. C. Paulson, 305 North Pearl street, Sunday morning at four o'clock. She had been an invalid for some years but death came as the direct result of a severe illness of two weeks.

The deceased was born in Norway in 1841 and came to this country when a child. She had been a resident of Chicago for the past twenty years, until January of 1911, when she came here to live with her mother. Besides her mother she leaves three sisters, all of this city. The funeral will be held from the home on Pearl street Tuesday afternoon at half past two.

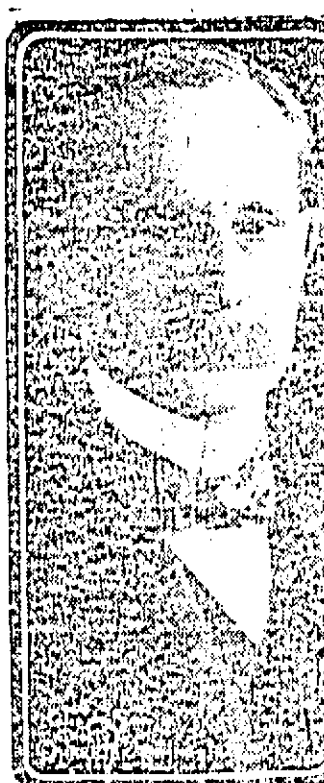

Mrs. K. W. Shipman.

After an illness of some three months Mrs. Kattie Stanley Shipman passed away this morning at her home, 517 Milton Avenue. The deceased was about forty years of age, and came to this city with her husband from Milwaukee last fall. She was a woman of sterling Christian character and a faithful member of the Baptist church. She will be sincerely mourned by all who have been privileged to make her acquaintance since her coming to this city. Her loss will be most keenly felt in the home, where she leaves a husband and one daughter, Esther.

The remains will be taken to Manitowish, Wis., Tuesday noon, and the funeral services will be held in that place which was her childhood home.

Alice Angie.

Funeral services for Alice Angie were held this morning at half past eight from the home of E. H. Connors and at nine o'clock from the St. Patrick's church. Dean Kelly officiated and interment was in Mt. Olivet cemetery. The pallbearers were: Joseph Shelly, James Shelly, Joseph Dempsey, Harry Conley, Patrick Davey and Fred Gibbs.

The Murderous Bluefish.

A five-pound bluefish passes eastward from Vineyard sound in the spring and weighs ten or 15 pounds in autumn. The bluefish is an unmitigated sea butcher and is able to whip any other species not larger than himself. He attacks menhaden with such ferocity as to pack them in windrows a foot deep on the coast.

Trees in English Town.

The trees in the streets form a special feature of Folkestone, England. About 4,000 in number, they include handsome horse chestnuts, elms, planes, sycamores and limes. In Castle Hill avenue, a hundred feet wide, with four rows of trees, the horse chestnuts make a fine show, especially at the blossoming period.

SEVENTEEN PENNIES A DAY

The very thought suggests economy--doesn't it. Think of buying a home, an automobile or a piano for only seventeen pennies a day. It sounds more like the tradition of children saving pennies for Christmas. Yet seventeen pennies a day will buy a fine high-grade $375 Piano and save you $97.50.

This Skavlem $375 Club Piano will be sold to club members for $277.50.

The terms are $5 when you join, then $1.25 a week.

There is positively no interest added to this. If you ever intend buying a piano--do it now.

delivered on Sundays they will write their letters earlier on one week or postpone the writing of them to the next.

It is just as well not to urge upon the head of the postoffice department too great a departure from old methods. It is just as well to be content with starting a reform, then let it work its own way out. For this reason we believe that the step taken toward providing a day of rest for all postal employees is one that should be hailed with satisfaction.

TO ALL READERS

The Gazette is anxious to bring each of its readers into closer touch with both the newspaper and each other.

It would like to have them feel free to send in news items, notices of parties, personal mentions, happenings in your own community, accidents that may occur—in fact anything that you think would interest other readers.

Matters of this nature can be telephoned to the editorial rooms. Call Rock county telephone 62, or Wisconsin phone 77 three rings.

Meetings of lodges, church gatherings, and special meetings of clubs it will be necessary to have written out and left at or mailed to the Gazette to avoid mistakes which might otherwise occur.

The columns of the paper are also open to communications on subjects of interest. Write your views of affairs, on one side of the paper only. Be sure and sign your name; it will not be published if you do not wish it to, and either leave or mail to the office.

Try this system and you will be surprised how much more interesting the reading of the evening paper becomes to you.

Mr. Taft put the lid on the Japanese war scare but the world will continue to pry up the lid of the box and see what it looks like.

Japan is interested in aviation and some people say that it is to discover an easier way of invading this country. It would be a long fly, however.

PRESS COMMENT.

Extra!

Dodgeville Sun-Republic: War with Japan? None!

Hopeless.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Our notion of a forlorn hope is the prohibition candidate running against Hakey Dink in the first ward, Chicago.

Work Cut Out.

San Claire Leader: The man who would prove that old Christopher Columbus was an ancient Don Quixote will find some work before him.

Even He.

Marquette Eagle-Star: Even Dr. Barker T. Washington needs to be careful how he proceeds around people's heads at night studying the name plates.

Sure As Fate.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Again it is rumored that Abdul Hamid, the despot of Turkey, is dead.

And some time one of these reports will prove to be correct.

Poor Old Texas.

Monroe Journal: The battleship Texas was sunk Tuesday. When Uncle Sam's new battleships for targets, which only a few years ago were the pride of the navy, it seems an extravagant and wasteful "practice."

Diaz the Sticker.

Wausau Record-Herald: The proposition to abdicate his throne was not received kindly by the venerable president of the Mexican Republic. When Diaz quits it will be because he has to.

More Than One Use.

Elkhorn Independent: It's a good patent who fly see, for that can heat a cup of the hot water, and just right as an annihilator of the pesky fly. No, it's not too early to begin curtailing the summer crop. Swat 'em.

In Language of Tough.

Rockford Republic: Let it be distinctly understood that Uncle Sam is not bluffing. People with full hands, find that unnecessary. The maneuvers of the day are in the nature of a "ruse" and there isn't likely to be any "fall."

Another Reason.

Albany Underwriter: The New theater in New York has been abandoned, principally because the managers tried to tell the public what it wanted to pay to see, instead of trying to find out public wants and catering to them.

No More Side Door Buffets.

Chicago News: Illinois legislators have fixed up a bill to prevent the use of any public building for the drinking of liquor on trains except in buffet and dining cars. Those who ride only in box cars will please take notice and act accordingly.

Solid Bone.

Holt News: Jack Johnson has been found to have a skull three-quarters of an inch thick. The X-ray had a hard time getting through it. The scientists do not tell us whether it found much after it got through or not. But perhaps it isn't necessary to discuss that point.

Information to Voters in Regard to the Election to Be Held On April 4, 1911

NOTE—Unless you are sure that you know just how to operate the machine, it would be well for you to practice on some old tape before

This will close the Curtain around you, and unlock the machine for voting.

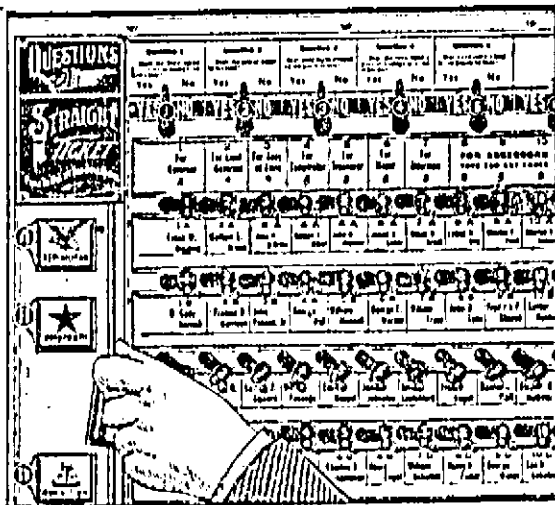

VOTER ABOUT TO CLOSE THE CURTAIN.

To vote Yes, turn the Question Pointer to the word Yes, and leave it there. To vote No, turn the Question Pointer to the word No, and leave it there.

Having closed the Curtain—Pull the Party Lever bearing the name or emblem of your Party over to the right UNTIL THE HELL RINGS, and then let it go back. This turns down to a voting position all of the Pointers of the candidates of your party.

The ringing of the bell signifies that the Party Lever has been pulled far enough to unlock the Curtain Lever and engage the registering mechanism.

VOTER PULLING OVER PARTY LEVER

The turned down Pointers indicate the names of the candidates for whom the vote will be cast.

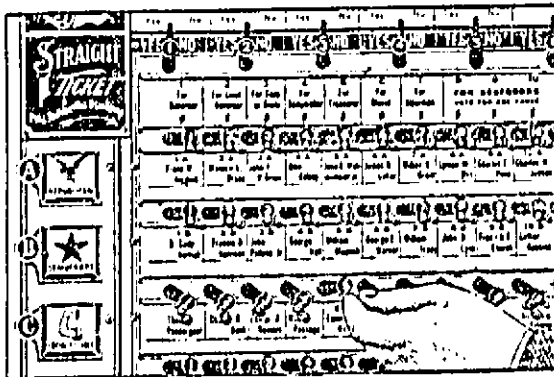

Leave the Pointers as they are (down in a voting position).

Move the Red Handle of the Curtain Lever to the left as far as it will go.

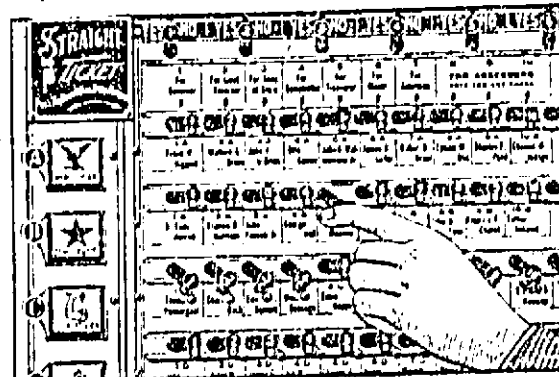

This will count your vote, open the Curtain, and set the machine for the next voter.

Having closed the Curtain--Pull the Party Lever bearing the name or emblem of your Party over to the right UNTIL THE BELL RINGS, and then let it go back. This turns down to a voting position all of the Pointers of the candidates of your party.

Turn back (up) the Pointer from over the name of the candidate you wish to cut. See illustration below.

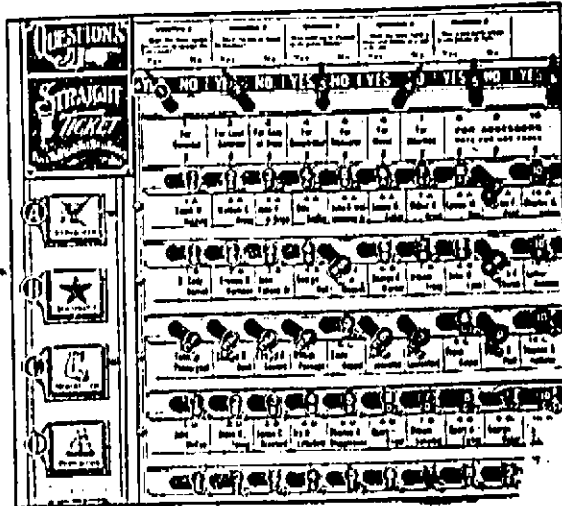

And then turn down a Pointer over the name of the candidate you wish to vote for for that office. See illustration below.

For an office to which two or more candidates are to be elected, the required number of candidates can be voted for, and no more, regardless of position.

After the vote is arranged, move the Red Handle of the Curtain Lever to the left as far as it will go. This will count one vote for every candidate that has a Pointer left down over his name.

To vote Yes, turn the Question Pointer to the word Yes, and leave it there. To vote No, turn the Question Pointer to the word No, and leave it there.

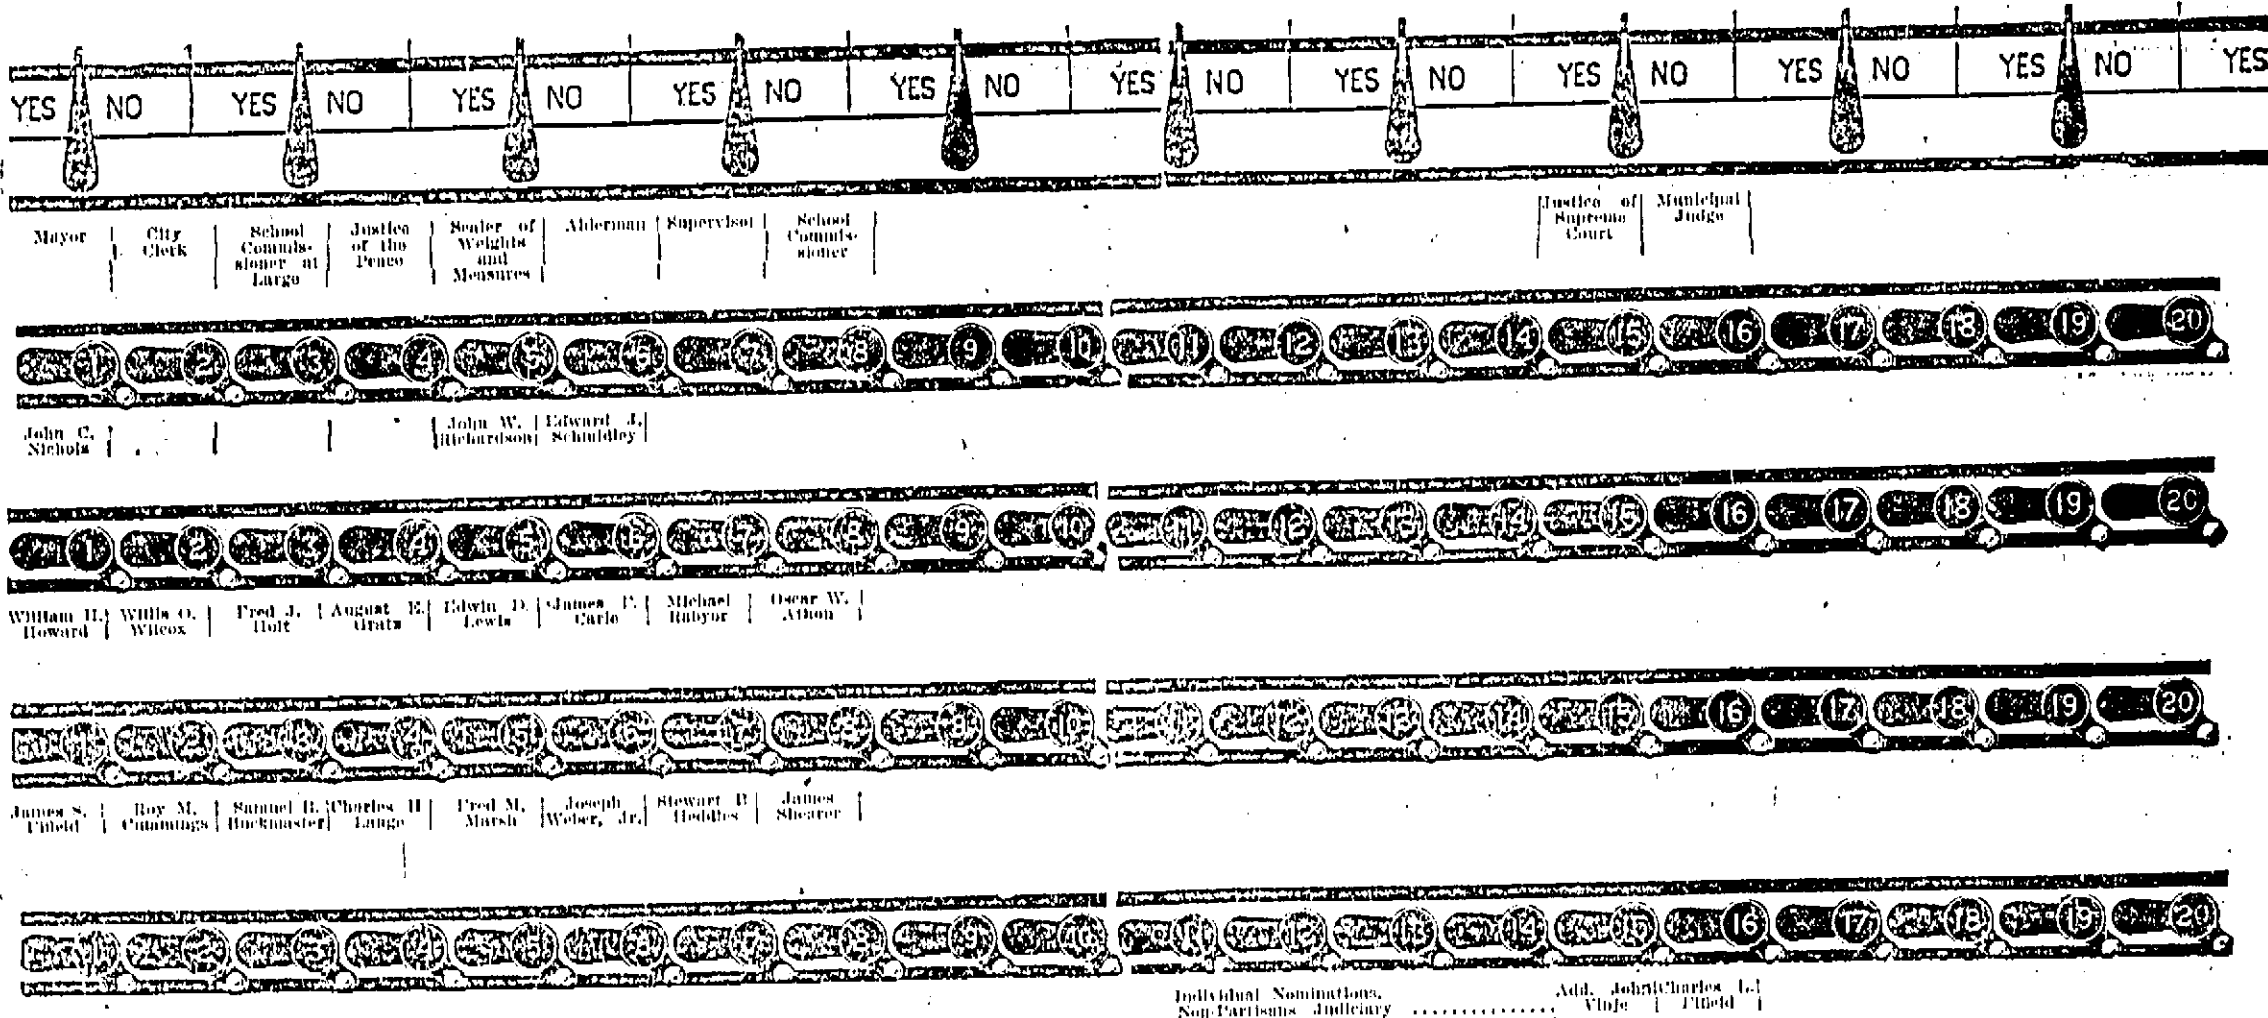

THE ABOVE CUT SHOWS:

That the voter has voted Party Lever "C" and then—
Split his vote for Treasurer, on Column 4.
That he has voted for Assessors, voting for three on Column a (for which office he is permitted to vote for any three candidates on either of the Columns, 8, 9, and 10).
That he has voted "Yes" on Questions 1 and 2.
That he has not voted on Questions 3 and 5.
That he has voted "No" on Question 4.
If the voter desires, he may make any further changes while the Curtain remains closed, as the vote is not registered until the Curtain is opened.
The Pointers must be left down over the names to be voted for. If the voter turns them back the vote will not be counted, as the opening of the Curtain turns back the Pointers and counts the vote.

Belongers Honored Confidence.

When the circus exhibited in Montpelier, Vt., recently, there was no work for eleven prisoners in the jail. The sheriff purchased tickets for them and allowed them to see the show without an escort. Some had long terms to serve and the crowd and darkness furnished an excellent opportunity to escape. Fifteen minutes after the performance was over every one was back where he belonged.

Sarcastic Judge.

Baron Maulo, in one of his sarcastic moods, addressed from the bench a barrister friend of mine thus: "Mr. Barker, could you not state your facts in some kind of order?" Chronological is the best, but if you cannot manage that, try some other; alphabetical, if you please."—Sir Francis H. Doyle, "Reminiscences."

Even,

"That wasn't real terrapin they served us in that restaurant," said the epicure.

"That's all right," replied the host. "The dollar I gave the waiter was counterfeit."

A Fit Mood.

"I asked old Captain Popper if he croaked so because he had so many frogs on his coal."
"What did he say to such impudent flippancy?"
"He got hopping mad."

Prepared for Emergency.

"What makes you keep giving me fish for dinner day after day?" he inquired. "Are you particularly fond of it?" "No," she replied, "I was wholly unselfish. I read a lovely recipe about how to remove a fish bone when it sticks in your throat, and I wanted to try it."

FIRST THERMIT WELD
AT SOUTH JANESVILLE
SHOPS WAS SUCCESSFUL

General satisfaction is expressed by the men at the round house with the successful outcome of the first thermit weld which was cut on Saturday. The frame of engine 300 is now as strong as before it was broken and the ability of the roundhouse men to handle the thermit process of welding is assured. It is expected that engine 263 which has a broken frame will be brought here from Harvard the first of the week to be treated to the new process.

A. J. Clark, boilermaker, and Edward Harnelouch, engine inspector, are inspecting the stationary engines at Rossa, Wis., Clinton Junction, and Ridgefield, Ill.

There was only one switch engine at work yesterday. The 530 switch engine, number 317, was operated by Engineer Townsend in the place of Engineer Hiler who was laying off. Switchmen Clough, Schumaker and Helges were on the job from 5:30 to 6:00.

Engineer R. K. Smith and Fireman J. D. Kaufman are on the half and half switch engine today.

Switchman Pfenfelder is laying off on account of sickness.

Engineer Talmadge and Fireman Lewis were laying off yesterday.

Switchmen Horn, Griffen and Hiler of the half and half were laying off yesterday.

Conductor Griffin is being relieved by Brakeman Martin Cate on run 391 to Fond du Lac. Switchman Schumaker went up on 391 this morning as brakeman in Cate's place.

Switchman Smith, Lighthouse and McCaughey went to work at six o'clock last night instead of seven.

Switchmen Dulin, Behrendt, and Horn were laying off yesterday.

Engineer Guy Cole left for the Hot Springs this morning, where he will take treatment for his health.

BUSINESS STILL REMAINS DULL FOR THE MOST PART

General dullness is felt by the road at the present time. Traffic is rather light at present and there is a corresponding lack of work in the shops and roundhouse. The machinists are still working eight hours a day and five days in the week and business is generally slow. It may be that the calm before the rush of spring business is the cause for the present quiet, and general activity is looked for in the near future.

Engineer Schicker and Fireman Rooney devaluated out of here this morning to get a train at Mineral Point.

Fireman Walter Selz went on the Monroe switch run today with Engineer Wilkerson.

Greatest Thing in Life.
Neither rich furniture, nor abundance of gold, nor a descent from an illustrious family, nor greatness of authority, nor eloquence and all the charms of speaking, can produce so great a serenity of life as a mind free from guilt, kept untainted, not only from actions, but purposes, that are wicked.—Plutarch.

City's Change of Name.
Rat Portage, at the north end of the Lake of the Woods, in northern Manitoba, was a lumber camp for years, but it became a lumber city and began to consider its name undignified. Now it is known as Kenora, which is more euphonious, but not so distinctive after all.

First Ward Candidates for Aldermanic Honors

Joseph J. Weber, Jr.

Joseph J. Weber, Jr., the republican nominee for alderman in the First ward, was nominated without opposition at the recent primaries. Mr. Weber is manager of the Janesville Clothing company and lives at 511 North Washington street. He is a thorough business man, and if elected would give the taxpayers of the First ward able representation in the common council.

Edward J. Schmidley.

Edward J. Schmidley, the democratic nominee for alderman in the First ward, has served one term as an alderman, several years when a resident of the 17th ward, having been elected on the Municipal League ticket. Mr. Schmidley is a progressive business man, an owner of considerable real estate in the city and very popular not only in his own ward but throughout the city.

WAREHOUSE OPENED FOR SEASON'S WORK

Warehouse of Mike Ford in Edgerton Opened This Morning.—Other News From Edgerton.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Edgerton, March 27.—Warehouse No. 26, owned and conducted by Mike Ford, opened its doors this morning for the season's sorting and packing. Owing to the scarcity of help all the hands employed in warehouse No. 6, owned by E. C. Hopkins and which closed Saturday night for the season, were secured in addition to the working force that had previously been employed in order to vigorously begin the season's run of work and complete the same in due time.

mus of opinion, it is declared, has created a wide demand for such an act at the present time.

The corrupt practices bill which will undoubtedly see important action during the present week, is designed to prevent the excessive expenditure of money in politics and the performance of acts tending to debauch the public mind.

The senate committee on judiciary called the pending resolution for the unseating of Senator Stephenson to the boards last week, but the scarcity of persons appearing for or against the resolution caused the committee to place it for hearing in executive session. The committee is fully expected to act this week. The general opinion prevails the committee by a divided report will recommend the resolution or a substitute for adoption. The fight will come on the floor of the senate and assembly but those legislators behind the resolution are firm in the belief it will pass both houses.

The horde of paid lobbyists who have infected the legislative halls for the past two months and paying apparently small heed to the anti-lobby law, are likely to see a crisis in their cause, it is declared, when the special legislative committee, appointed for the purpose, gets under way this week. A few of the lobbyists who have most flagrantly violated the law are said to have left the state to escape promised prosecution.

The work of the lobbyist-investigating committee will strike deep into the ranks of the representatives of a certain Wall street institution which deals in oil. It is freely predicted. These men have quietly sought to secure a repeal of the law which provides for state inspection of kerosene and gasoline. Their purpose, it is charged, would be to save inspection fees and be given free reign to flood the Wisconsin market with inferior grades of the product.

The inspection of kerosene under the present law is designed to prevent the sale of explosive oils for illuminating purposes. Gasoline bears inspection to prevent illegal gains by the oil companies. The entire law, however, purports to bring about stringent restrictions tending to preserve the public against explosions.

Lobbyists representing the oil companies are said to have been the most persistent and have more or less impressed many legislators by their "boring in" tactics.
Senator La Follette, when governor, strongly opposed all efforts to weaken the state inspection laws because he was convinced that they were substantially constructed to prevent loss of life and property to the people of Wisconsin.

Blessing Should Have Counted.
There is a French story of an old woman who, on seeing the carriage of the young King Louis, XIII, passing on its way from church, where the marriage had just taken place, took off her shoes, and throwing it at his coach, cried out: "Tia all I have, your majesty, but may the blessing of God go with it."

Busy.

Tailored Suits

The Big Store presents the smartest Tailored Suits to be seen in Southern Wisconsin. The suits possess an individuality, a distinction that marks them as products of the very best makers in the country, who confine their lines in Janesville exclusively to us.

Prominent in our display are the bolero suits so much in vogue. Also are there many with the sailor collar, the long lapels, the short, jaunty coats and straight line skirts.

This is a season of light colors, white with hair line stripes, cream serges, and light shades of the prevailing colors.

Novelty Suits are also shown in satin and moire, the most beautiful the season has brought out.

Already our fitting department is busy, though we can get suits out with much greater dispatch now than we will be able to the last week before Easter.

Those who intend to purchase a suit for Easter are invited to come now, make a small deposit and have the alterations and fittings now before the rush.

WOMAN'S PAGE

To Our Women Readers.

WITH LESS than a week for the letters on suggestions for the making of the Gazette more interesting to its women readers remaining, every mail is bringing in numerous ideas from the women readers of the Gazette that demonstrates the popularity of the contest. For the most part they are on subjects of vital interest to every woman, while some even offer ideas as to the general appearance of the Gazette itself.

The contest closes this week and all letters that are entered must be sent addressed "Feature Editor," care of the Gazette, to reach the office on Friday. Each article must be plainly written on one side of the paper only and confined to about one hundred words. If mailed they should have a two-cent stamp on the envelope.

Remember the prizes offered for the best four articles on this subject.

FIRST PRIZE—CALORIC FIRELESS COOKSTOVE.
SECOND PRIZE—$5.00 IN MONEY.
THIRD PRIZE—$3.00 IN MONEY.
FOURTH PRIZE—$2.00 IN MONEY.

The names of the winners will be announced on Saturday, April 8th, and the awards will be made immediately. Owing to the number of answers to the request for suggestions it will take some days to decide which are the best and most deserving of the prizes. The interest taken in this contest has been remarkable and letters continue to come in by every mail.

The Gazette will have another contest for its women readers which will be announced in one of the issues of the Gazette during the coming week. It promises to be even a more interesting one than the present contest and will offer ample opportunity for the housewife to test her skill in a manner which will be appreciated by the entire family.

The Evening Chit-Chat

by RUTH CAMERON.

THE State of New Hampshire has recently passed a law aimed to prevent the horrors of baby farming—that is, those terrible establishments where the little unwelcome babies are boarded out, and given full opportunity by their hostess to depart, if they will be so kind—from a world that has little use for them.

In connection with the passing of this law there was a little incident about which I want to tell you, because for splendid selfless courage it seems to me worthy to rank with any heroic deed I have ever heard of.

A few days before the bill was to come up a new looking, dignified appearing young woman came to the committee who were working for the bill, and said:

"I have heard that you need all the evidence you can possibly get. I have come to tell you that if you think it necessary I will make my story public. My baby died in one of those places. I had no idea what sort of a place it was when I took him there. I have letters and evidence to prove what I say. No one around here knows anything about this, and, of course, I do not wish to say anything unless it is absolutely necessary, but I leave it with you. If you think it is necessary for the passing of the bill, call upon me and I will tell all I know."

Now, please try to think what that promise meant. The girl was looked up by the committee and found to be a bookkeeper, a woman of excellent standing in the community, a woman about whose name, since she came there to work five years ago, there had never been a breath of scandal, a woman with whom no one would ever have connected the past she was ready to own up to.

The closed chapter that dealt with the unhappy little stranger she had actually succeeded in keeping hidden from all her acquaintances up to now. And now she was willing to lay it open, to bring down upon herself the disgrace she had managed to escape, in order that wise legislation might be furthered.

I have to think of that incident, because it shows the presence, to an unexpected degree, of a quality all too rare among ordinary human beings—that is, altruism.

Altruism, you know, is a sort of splendid big brother to unselfishness. The altruist is the man who wishes to see the greatest good for the greatest number, even if he does not happen to be one of that number. He can look beyond personal discomfort and inconvenience, see the good of the race and be content.

I heard a man the other day saying that he had no use for Col. Roosevelt. Being an admirer myself, I ventured to ask why.

"Because he got that interstate commerce law passed."

"What's the matter with that?" I always heard it was a good law."

"Oh, I suppose it is a good law, so I haven't any use for the Colonel."

That man, I happen to know, is unusually unselfish in his family life, but he hasn't that large minded, far-seeing kind of unselfishness called altruism.

He can't be glad of a law that he admits to be beneficial because it pinches him a bit.

Yes, I know that isn't strange at all. I know most of us would feel the same way.

Only I want all to admit that we ought not to feel that way, and to realize fully what a beautiful world it would be if there were more people in it with the splendid spirit of that little bookkeeper.

Whatever her sin, I cannot but feel it has been more than atoned for by that offer.

The Katherine Kip Editorial

WHERE MEN ARE SELFISH.

Doesn't this little bit of stray philosophy make you stop and think a bit? "Men who owe all they have and all they are to an industrious, commercial wife, too often leave her out when they boast of their success, as most successful men are prone to do."

There are few men who have made successes in life who do not own a great deal of it to the wife who has been content to remain behind the scenes, but who has, nevertheless, done her share of helping.

Little more than anything else makes men selfish in this respect. They forget that the woman who keeps house well, who brings children into the world and tends them faithfully, who makes a real home where contentment dwells is contributing as much to her husband's success as if she were out in the world earning a salary and contributing her portion towards the common fund.

It is just this fact—the part woman plays in making practically all the wealth and comfort of the world—that makes the wife of some men so ungrateful, and the laws that permit such will to stand, especially so.

A man and a woman marry and to the wife falls often more than not the heavier portion of the sacrifices. True, the man sacrifices in his way, but never yet was the man who sacrificed to the extent of the woman he takes into partnership with him, who puts her all in and at the end of life draws out what he is willing she shall have, or failing that, the portion the state says she shall accept as her share.

Not a man living would accept such terms in a partnership. Sometimes there are men who try to be more just than the law and they immediately become conspicuous for this very fact. Most men intend to be

The Kitchen Cabinet

WHEN the dwelling is cramped, the purse limited, the table always in minor order, dress and convenience reign in her house. She puts care and art into everything she undertakes. To do well what one has to do, is not in her eyes the privilege of the rich, but the right of all. That is her aim and she knows how to give her home a dignity and an attractiveness that the dwellings of princes if everything is left to mercenaries cannot possess.

Leftover Possibilities.

In the minds of most people there is a prejudice against anything wasted over or served the second time.

To the economical housekeeper the leftovers are a great problem and in these days of high prices great care should be used that nothing is wasted. Meats being our most expensive foods, should be purchased with care. The most expensive meats are not any more nutritive than the cheaper cuts.

Corn Beef Hash.—Chop corn beef that has been cooked with vegetables in a boiled dinner. Take equal parts of cold cooked cabbage, turnip, carrot, and potato. Season with salt and pepper and put into a frying pan, moisten with hot water. Brown well and fold over on a platter like an omelet. Garnish with parsley.

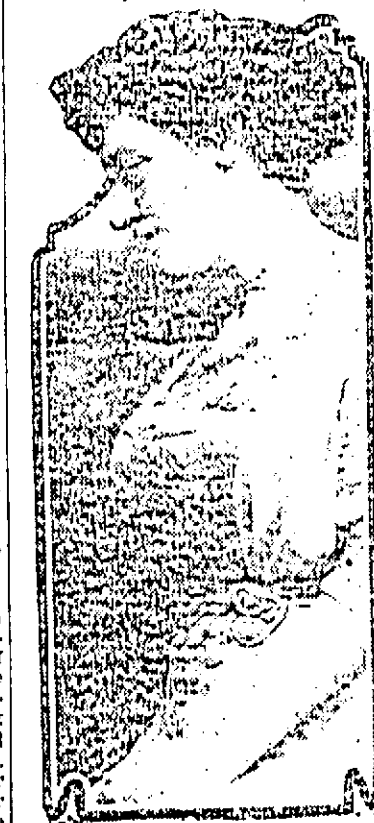

Victoria Chicken.—Make a sauce of a fourth of a cup each of flour and butter and a cup of chicken stock. To this add a cup of mushrooms, a cup of drained peas, one-half cup of tomato pulp and a cup and a half of minced chicken. Add the seasoning necessary, and serve on toast.

Cook the bones left from the chicken, allowing them to simmer slowly several hours; add to this stock any gravy or stock that is left. When ready to serve add the peas left from the can in making Victoria chicken and half a cup of grated cheese.

When you have a little cold roast or steak left over, cut it in fine pieces, sprinkle it over a layer of cold cooked potatoes in a baking pan, add a little minced onion and a cupful of tomatoes. Season with salt, pepper and a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce and bake until well heated through.

Fruit Juice may be used with a little gelatine to make a nice salad or dessert. Pour the juice, thickened with a little gelatine, over any fresh cut fruit.

TO ATTEND CORONATION.

Mrs. Charles Church Miller, who occupies a prominent place in New York society, is already preparing for her forthcoming trip to London, whither she goes to witness the coronation ceremonies in June.

Mrs. Miller, whose personal charm accounts for much of her popularity, has an all-the-year round apartment at the Hotel Plaza, New York, and a country place at Long Beach. She travels extensively and has just returned to the metropolis from a trip to California.

Mustard in England.

Mustard is grown in England to a considerable extent in the eastern counties and the Fen district and to some extent in the Midlands. It is ordinarily grown in heavy black soil, but it is generally believed that the crop draws a great deal of strength from the soil. For that reason it is not especially popular. The yield on an acre is variable, ranging from twenty to thirty bushels, but twenty bushels is usually considered a fair yield. The seed rate is usually about three to four pounds an acre when drilled in rows from ten to twelve inches apart.

A man ought to carry himself in the world as an orange tree would if it could walk up and down in the garden—swaying perfume from every limb—center it holds up to the air—wonder-

WIDE CHOICE OF MATERIAL

Many Charming Textures in Which This Costume for Spring Would Be Effective.

There are many charming materials among those prepared for spring dresses that would make up successfully in this style.

The skirt is slightly full at the waist and is trimmed effectively at the lower part by silk strapping and scalloped formed of silk, which gives the effect of an added and wrapped-over lower part; a silk-covered button is sewn in each scallop.

The bolero is cut like a Magyar blouse, and is trimmed to match the skirt. The underbody is of crepe de chine, tucked for the under-sleeves.

That of the straw trimmed with a handsome ostrich feather.

Materials required for the dress: yards 16 inches wide, 2 yards silk 22 inches wide.

The Overdressed Woman.

By the way, Parisians are now declaring that the conservative woman is the only really well-dressed woman; that those who rush to the front with the latest eccentricity of hat, or coat, or skirt, in order to attract attention, are not only not smart in its fashionable acceptance, but over and objectionably smart. They have invented a term, a contemptuous one, too, by which to express their disapproval. Unfortunately, the term is self is objectionable to English ears, and loses its point entirely in translation.—Harper's Bazar.

Stitching.

When sewing on the sewing machine, if the thread breaks easily, soak spool and all in water for about two minutes. This rule applies to any quality of thread.

A Kansas Proclamation.

An Anthony man has issued the following proclamation: "Neighbors, I am a man of peace. I want no trouble. I want to make no trouble for others. I have a wife and children, and they need me. I also have a house, a lawn and a garden. I am about to put some seed in my garden beds. I have bought a gun and some shells, and while I am not a crack shot, I think I can hit chickens. It is my purpose to try if any come around where my blue grass is struggling and my onions are showing their bald heads."

Enjoy the Present.

Grief for things past, that cannot be remedied, and care for things to come, that cannot be prevented, may easily hurt, but can never benefit me. I will, therefore, commit myself to God in both, and enjoy the present.—Joseph Hall.

Quickly Cures Coughs, Colds and Catarrh

If you, dear reader, could spend an hour looking over a few of the thousands of testimonials that we have on file, you would not go on suffering from catarrh, that disgusting disease that will surely sap your vitality and weaken your entire system if allowed to continue.

You would have just as much faith in HYOMEL as we have, and have so much confidence in its wonderful curative virtue that it is sold the country over under a positive guarantee to cure catarrh, cough, sore throat, colds and colds or money back.

No stomach dosing when you breathe HYOMEL. Just pour a few drops of the liquid into the inhaler, and breathe it in.

It is mighty pleasant to use; it opens up those stuffed-up nostrils in two minutes, and makes you feel fresh as clear as a bell in a short time. Breathe HYOMEL and kill the catarrh germs. It's the only way to cure catarrh. It's the only way to get rid of that constant hacking, unquenching and spitting.

A complete HYOMEL outfit, which includes a bottle of HYOMEL and a hand rubber pocket inhaler, costs $1.00. If you already own a HYOMEL inhaler, you can get an extra bottle of HYOMEL for 50 cents. Sold by the People's Drug Co.

GERMAN COUNT AND COUNTESS WEDDED IN CAPITAL TODAY

Washington Society Out in Force for Marriage of Countess Louise von Bernstorff to Count Raymond Pourtales.

(Special to the Gazette.) Washington, D. C., March 27.—Not in a long time has the capital witnessed such an outpouring of distinguished representatives of official and resident society as filled Concordia Church, a modest little place of worship of the German Lutheran denomination, at the wedding this afternoon of the Countess Louise Alexandrine von Bernstorff, daughter of the German ambassador and Countess von Bernstorff, and Count Raymond Pourtales, an attaché of the German embassy.

The wedding was a notable event, both in social and official circles, for the guest list included the names of the President and Mrs. Taft, Vice President and Mrs. Sherman, the members of the cabinet, justices of the supreme court, senators, and representatives, foreign diplomats and many other officials and their wives. Owing to the limited accommodations of the church only about 600 guests were invited to witness the marriage ceremony, but the wedding reception that followed at the German embassy was attended by several thousand persons well known in social circles in Washington, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and a number of other cities.

The little church was a bower of white flowers, white roses and apple blossoms when the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, walked up the flower-strewn aisle. The usual customs of a wedding in Germany were followed, with an adoption also of the forms in vogue in America. Following the custom of the fatherland, the bridegroom escorted the Countess von Bernstorff. The bride had no maid of honor, but was escorted to the altar by her father, preceded by the four bridesmaids—Miss Alys Meyer, daughter of the Secretary of the Navy; Miss Elsie Aldrich, daughter of ex-Senator and Mrs. Aldrich; Miss Cecelia May, who is soon to be the bride of Mr. Robert L. Bacon; and Miss Mary R. Southard, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Southard.

Instead of a best man there were four ushers for the bridegroom. They were Count Gunther von Harnstoff, brother of the bride; Jonathan H. M. von Weede, secretary of the Netherlands legation; Lord Eustace Percy, British attaché, and Baron Hardenbrock, German attaché. The four ushers chosen according to American custom were Count Eleanor Poljasevich, Australian attaché; Major von Herzscheidt, German military attaché; Commander Retzmann, German naval attaché, and A. C. Hornstmann, German attaché.

The marriage ceremony was in accordance with the ritual of the German Lutheran church and was performed by the Rev. Paul A. Mentzel, pastor of Concordia church.

A celebration of today's wedding of special interest in the United States is that the mother of the bride and the stepmother of the bridegroom, both were Americans. The wife of the German ambassador and mother of the bride was Miss Jennie Luckeneyer of New York, while the stepmother of Count Pourtales was Miss Helen Barbey of New York city and Tusculum.

The bride was born in Berlin twenty-two years ago and when she was eighteen she was given a brilliant debutante party at the diplomatic court in Berlin, where her father was then minister from Germany. Since coming to America in 1908 she has been extremely popular in Washington society life and noted for her beauty, her wit and social charm. In spite of her youth she is a thorough-going cosmopolitan and speaks several languages fluently.

The acquaintance of the bride and bridegroom began a year ago when Count Pourtales first came to Washington. This marked the Count's entry into the diplomatic service. Previously he had served six years in the Berlin Guards. The Count, who is twenty-eight years old was born in Switzerland and educated in Munich. His father, Count Hermann Pourtales, was a soldier in the German army. His mother died in 1888 and three years later his father married Miss Barbey, Count Hermann Pourtales died in 1901 and his widow has since continued to live in Europe, spending her summers in Germany and her winters in Rome.

Baking Helps

Valuable Suggestions By Mrs. Nevada Briggs, Expert of the Art of Baking, as taught by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Helpful Cake Making Plans

Always sift flour and K C Baking Powder at least three times. The more sifting, the lighter the cake. Remember that! To cream butter and sugar quickly, warm the sugar slightly. Beat yolks of eggs with rotary beater. Whip whites of eggs with flat spoon whip. Water makes lighter cakes; milk makes richer cakes.

To mix a cake, first cream butter and sugar thoroughly, then add yolks, if used. Then alternately add moisture and flour that has been sifted with baking powder and stir until smooth and glossy, adding egg whites after thoroughly mixing.

Always use K C Baking Powder. Biscuit Helps

At rays sift flour and K C Baking Powder at least three times.

Have shortening cold and firm. Mix dough as soft as it can be handled. The softer dough goes into the oven, the lighter the biscuit when it comes out. It is easier for K C Baking Powder to do its work in soft than in stiff dough. Mix biscuits very little. Do not knead. Stir up with spoon or knife and press in shape to roll on floured board.

With K C Baking Powder results are sure and certain. Ask your grocer for K C.

Stop That Cough in a Minute

Would you give morphine or chloroform to your baby or take it yourself? Of course not. Yet most patent cough cures contain one or both. They stop a cough in a minute, which is dangerous. A cough should be cured internally by healing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, throwing it out, which is done by coughing. Badger Cough Balsam does not contain morphine or chloroform. It is made by percolation from bloodroot, lobelia, plus bark, wild cherry, etc. It cures a cough in a few days without filling the lungs with poisonous phlegm. The irritation is relieved, the lungs healed without danger of pneumonia. It's safe for children or old people. Get a bottle today for 25 cents. Badger Cough Balsam is made by Mr. Prentiss, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist. Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River streets.

Tomorrow Order This New Matchless FLOUR

Tell your grocer that he must get it for you if he has not a stock on hand right now

MATCHLESS FLOUR will make bread with a golden brown, crisp crust, bread that is light and flaky, bread with a flavor that you cannot equal with any other flour on earth.

MATCHLESS FLOUR is the cream of the wheat, secured by a Mill in the very heart of the great Minnesota wheat country. It is not generally known as a Big mill but its determination to make the best flour is making a big name for it wherever it is introduced.

Matchless flour will make your pastry smoother, richer and lighter than any other flour except the finest pastry flour.

TOLD OF VALUE OF EDUCATION

DR. CARRIER OF CARROLL COLLEGE SPOKE AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SUNDAY.

THE HIGHER TRAINING

Equips A Man To Perform His Daily Labors Better, and Gives Him More Enjoyment of Life.

Dr. Carrier of Carroll College, Waukegan, spoke at the Presbyterian church yesterday morning and evening. The Carroll College Glee club, which gave the concert at the church on Saturday evening, also took part in the Sunday services.

Dr. Carrier's address last evening was concerning the value of a college education. The text was chosen from the book of Joshua, the seventh verse of the first chapter: "Only be thou strong and very courageous that thou mayest observe to do all the law, which Moses my servant commanded thee to do: to turn from it to the right hand or to the left, that thou mayest prosper whithersoever thou goest."

"When God wanted a leader, he chose a man mentally qualified to do the work God desired done. You know the story of the providential training of Moses. God in his providence had Moses adopted and brought up in the home of the King, where Moses could secure the training he needed to lead the Children of Israel out of Egypt when the time came. When Moses' work was completed, the Children of Israel were free, and they wanted a man to take them into the Promised Land, Joshua, who had been in association with Moses forty years, was chosen."

"When a great prophet was wanted by the Lord the child Samuel was taken up that he might dwell with Eli that a scholar might be prepared. When Christ sought the men to carry on his work he selected the twelve and put them through a course of training and then commanded them to take up the great work."

"What are we to understand by the use of the wonderful talent? He gave these men? Only that they improved them."

"We are living in a wonderful age and a wonderful country, an age greater than any other age and a country greater than other nations of the world."

"It is a scholarly age. All are more or less educated and the man or woman of today who cannot read or write is looked upon as unfortunate and is ashamed of the fact. Very largely the men who are leaders over other men are the men best educated. Among the eminent Americans of today, from a list of over sixteen thousand, it has been found that fifty-seven per cent of them are university or college graduates and thirty per cent of them had the equivalent of a high school or academy course. This speaks for the fact that the educated man comes to the front as a leader."

"There are two causes for this. First because of ambition and secondly because when a man has education he has a commanding influence over other men. I do not say that a man cannot become a leader if he has not a college education, but the college graduate has an advantage over other men."

"In the last three decades the number of the students entering high schools is also true of the colleges and universities throughout the country. Of the students going into the high schools, a large percentage of them are preparing to go to colleges and universities. There will be more college students in the next ten years than ever before."

"Far greater things are being accomplished through scientific knowledge than ever before. Through the scientific development of agriculture we are making the country double in its products. It is the triumph of thought."

"There is a book written by a Chicago business man, who has a great deal to say against the colleges and universities. Yet he has a reason for some of the things said because he has a one-sided view of college life. Many students are sent to college because their parents desire it and a great outlay of money is used to keep some of the young men there. The man who has to spend a great amount of money has a difficulty in getting an education. There are many people who go to college because they think it is a great place to spend money and have a good time. That is not the real aim of the college, however, and is not the standard by which to judge them."

"The college aims to give a man the leadership, to find his place in the world and accomplish things for his fellow men. Perhaps we have laid too much stress on the utilitarian of the college education—too much consideration of the fact that if a man goes to college he is enabled to receive larger wages. Well there is no doubt that it is all right for a man to prepare himself to better perform his labor. You know men pay more for brains and skill than for muscle. The man who performs his labor by his muscle does not know but what tomorrow a machine will be invented to take his place. All through life we are looking for the man with the greatest amount of brains."

"Let us take the other side. Is it the money-making proposition we want an education for?"

"The man who has a college education is living in a plane of higher understanding than the average man who has not the college training. In Germany universities have specialized in their studies so much that all they are equipped for is the occupation they have selected. Without the larger views of life as afforded by a liberal education they have become greatly tradesmen and the leaders in the Socialistic movement."

"God has put all the things of his beautiful world at our disposal. He has given us His own mind to read the Holy Book and look out upon the Eternal Life. If we would be strong we must be strong mentally that we may be strong physically."

DISTRICT MANAGER HAS TAKEN CHARGE

C. L. Miller of Kenosha Assumes Charge of the New Janesville District of the Wisconsin Telephone Company.

On Saturday, C. L. Miller of Kenosha, who has been appointed manager of the newly organized Janesville district of the Wisconsin Telephone company, took charge of the local office. His territory will include the counties of Rock, Green, La Fayette and Grant. Joseph Schuler, who has been local manager for the company, will become the district wire chief with headquarters in this city. Mr. Miller comes to Janesville after six years' work in Kenosha, having previously had telephone experience in Delavan. He will bring his wife and children here as soon as he can find rooms for them. Mr. Miller is much pleased with Janesville and states that he is surprised that it is not larger in population. His stores he considers far superior to those of either Racine or Kenosha, both cities with a larger population but having a large per cent of foreigners. Mr. Schuler, who becomes district wire chief, has made a most efficient manager of the local company and his friends will be pleased to learn that he will remain in the city in his new capacity.

A FOOD STORY
Makes a Woman of 70 "One in 10,000."

The widow of one of Ohio's most distinguished newspaper editors and a famous leader in politics in his day says she is 70 years old and a "strong" woman than you will find in ten thousand, and she credits her fine physical condition to the use of Grape-Nuts.

"Many years ago I had a terrible fall which permanently injured my stomach. For years I lived on a preparation of corn starch and milk, but it grew so repugnant to me that I had to give it up. Then I tried, one after another, a dozen different kinds of cereals, but the process of digestion gave me great pain."

"It was not until I began to use Grape-Nuts food three years ago that I found relief. It has proved with me that I brought me health and vigor such as I never expected to again enjoy, and in gratitude I never fail to sound its praises." Name given by Postum Co., Haled Creek, Mich.

LAKOTAS DEFEATED BY RAVENSWOOD Y

At A Dandy Game By Crippled Line-Up, Locals Are Beaten By Chicago Team Saturday Night.

With their regular line-up depleted by the loss of Landon and Green, the Lakota Cardinals suffered defeat at the hands of the Ravenswood Y. M. C. A. basketball team, Saturday night to the tune of 23 to 22.

To suffer defeat with the Ravenswood aggregation as the victors was far from a disgrace as the visitors were about as good a team as they played on the local floor this season. They started with the first whistle and played the locals off their feet in a fast and aggressive exhibition of team work.

This game was called by O'Connell of Madison, and his snappy work was a feature of the game. At the end of the first half the score was 17 to 9 in favor of the Ravenswood boys.

Things looked different in the second half and at one time the locals were within two points of their opponents. With three new men in their lineup this half the Chicago team was defeated in actual points for the section, but their lead was too much to overcome and the game ended with the score of 23 to 22, with the visitors

"One Touch of Nature Makes the Whole World Kin."

When a rooster finds a big fat worm he calls all the hens in the farm yard to come and share it. A similar trait of human nature is to be observed when a man discovers something exceptionally good—he wants all his friends and neighbors to share the benefits of his discovery. This is the touch of nature that makes the whole world kin. This explains why people who have been cured by Merial Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturers for publication, that others similarly ailing may also use it and obtain relief. Behind every one of these letters is a warm hearted wish of the writer to be of use to someone else. This remedy is for sale by the Reliable Drug Co., druggists, members of American Drug & Press Association.

The BRONZE BELL

BY LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE
AUTHOR OF "THE BRASS BOWL" ETC.
ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

Doggott disappeared to prepare a meal, but within five minutes a gun-shot sounded startlingly near at hand. The Virginian's appearance at the door was coincident with a clear hall of "Abooy, Amber!"—unmistakably Quain's voice, raised at a distance of not over 200 yards.

Amber's answering cry quavered with joy. And with a bear-like rush Quain topped the nearest dune, dropped down into the hollow, and was upon him.

"By the Lord Harry!" he cried, almost embracing Amber in his excitement and relief. "I'd almost given you up for good and all!"

"And I you," said Amber, watching curiously and somewhat distrustfully a second man follow Quain into the vale. "Who's that?" he demanded.

"Only Antonio. We've him to thank. He remembered this old camp here—I'd completely forgotten it—and was sure you'd find refuge in it. Come inside." He dragged Amber in, the Portuguese following. "Let's have a look at you by the light. Lord! you seem to be pretty comfortable—and I've been worrying myself sick for fear you—" He swept the room with an approving glance which passed over Doggott and became transfixed as it rested upon the hammock-bed with its burden, and his jaw fell. "What's this? What's this?" He swung upon Amber, appraising with relentless eyes the havoc his night's experience had wrought upon the man. "You look like hell!" he exploded. "What's up here? Eh?"

Amber turned to Doggott. "Take Antonio out there with you and keep him until I call, please. This is Mr. Quain; I want to talk with him undisturbed. . . . But you can bring us coffee when it's ready."

Quain motioned to Antonio; the Portuguese disappeared into the back room with Doggott, who closed the communicating door.

"You first," said Amber. "If you've fretted about me, I've been crazy about you—what time I've had to think."

Quain deferred to his host's wishes. "It was simple enough—and damned hard," he explained. "I caught the echo by the side of my teeth, the skinny almost shivering under me. She was hard and fast around, but I managed to get the motor going and backed her off. As soon as that was all right we got a wave aboard that soured the motor—like a fool I'd left the hatch off—and short-circuited the coil. After that there was hell to pay. I worked for half an hour reefing, and meanwhile we went around again. The car broke and I had to go overboard and get wet to my waist before I got her off. By that time it was blowing great guns and dead from the beach. I had to stand off and make for the mainland—nothing else to do. We beached about a mile below the lighthouse and I had the four-mile tramp home. Then after I'd thawed out and had a drink and a change of clothes, we had to wait two hours for the sea to go down enough to make a crossing in the launch practicable. That's all for mine. Now you? What's that there?"

"A suicide; a friend of mine—the man Rutton whom we were discussing the night I came down. And that's not half. There's a man out there somewhere, shot to death by Rutton—a Bengal baba. . . . Quain, I've lived in Purgatory ever since we parted and now . . . I'm about done."

He was; the coming of Quain with the ease of mind it brought had snapped the high nervous tension which had sustained Amber. He was now on the edge of collapse and showed it plainly. But two circumstances aided him to recover his grip upon himself: Quain's compassionate consideration in forbearing to press his story from him, and Doggott's opportune appearance with a pot of coffee, steaming and black. Two cups of this restored Amber to a condition somewhat approaching the normal. He lit a cigarette and began to talk.

For all his affection for and confidence in his friend, there were things he might not tell Quain; wherefore he couched his narrative in the fewest possible words and was miserably of detail. Of the coming of the baba and his going Amber was fairly free to speak; he suppressed little if any of that episode. Moreover, he had forgotten to remove the token from his finger, and Quain instantly remarked it and demanded an explanation. But of the nature of the errand on which he was to go, Amber said nothing; it was, he averred, Rutton's private business. Nor did he touch upon the question of Rutton's nationality. Sophia Farrell he never mentioned.

Nevertheless, he said enough to render Quain thoughtful. "You've set on this thing, I suppose," he asked some time after Amber had concluded.

"Set upon it, dear man? I've no choice. I must go—I promised."

Quain went to the hammock-bed, turned back the sheet, and for several minutes lingered there, scrutinizing the stony, upturned face.

"So!" he said, coming back. "Here's news that'll help you some. You were blind not to see it yourself. That man—was, I should say—a Rajput." He waited for the comment which did not come. "You know it?"

"I . . . suspected, tonight."

"It's as plain as print; the mark of his caste is all over him. But perhaps he was able to disguise it a little

"I wouldn't leave him if I were you," Amber told Quain, nodding back at the Portuguese. "It mightn't be safe, with that other devil skulking round—heaven knows where."

"Right-O!" agreed Quain. His hand sought Amber's. "Goodby, and God be with you," he said huskily.

Amber tightened his grasp upon the man's fingers. "I can't improve on that, Tony," said he with a feeble "Goodby, and God be with you." He dropped his hand and turned away. "Come along, Doggott."

The servant led the way backwards. Behind them the angry morning blazed brighter in the sky.

In the edge of the shore they found a rowboat and, launching it, embarked for the power boat, which swung at her mooring in deeper water. When they were aboard the latter, Doggott took charge of the motor, leaving to Amber the wheel, and with little delay they were in motion.

As their distance from the shore increased Amber glanced back. The island rested low against the flaming sky, a shape of empyrean shadows, scarcely more substantial to the vision than the rack of cloud above. In the dark sedge the ponds, here and there, caught the light from above and shone blood-red. And suddenly the attention of the Virginian was arrested by the discovery of a human figure—a man standing upon a dune some distance inland, and staring resolutely after the boat. He seemed of extraordinary height and very thin; upon his head there was a turban; his arms were folded. While Amber watched he held his pose, a living monolith—like some fantastic statue bulking black against the grim red dawn.

Daily Science Talk

THE END OF THE WORLD.

The earth was formed out of the original nebulous mass of which the sun is the remnant. A fiery ring was thrown off, which rolled itself up into a red-hot world. This shrank and cooled until a solid shell was formed, on which life afterward sprang up.

Much more slowly, because now inclosed, the interior heat continues to be dissipated, but eventually the earth will be as cold as its center is on its surface. The sun, too, which now supplies the heat necessary to life, will burn out. Then the frigid conditions prevailing at the poles will creep toward the equator until all life will become extinct and the earth, once a ball of fire, will be a ball of ice.

Yet something may happen in the meantime to alter all this prospect. If a great world pass so near that its attraction will stop the earth in its revolution around the sun, the sun's attraction, no longer offset by the centrifugal force of the earth's revolution, will cause the earth to fall into its fiery bosom and perish like a snowflake falling on a red-hot furnace. Men will see the impending ruin as the sun's size and heat increase with each hour. In fact, the world will be adrift before it touches the sun.

An eggshell is thick as compared with that thin on which we live, just beneath which are the fires that boil at every volcano. The day may come when there will be a sudden and general giving way of the earth's crust, whereupon these internal fires, mingled with the superheated steam of the filtered ocean water, will burst forth and everywhere overturn the earth's surface.

Again, all the stars are said in motion. Our own sun, with its attendant planets, is dodging through space at twelve miles a second, a snail's pace compared with the "runaway star," flying 212 miles, or 34 Casiopeia at 265 miles a second. Many of these are heading this way.

Comets, too, come recklessly, crossing our path at fearful speed. We have already passed through comets' tails, like Halley's, and Comet Butte, which, furnishes evidence of collision with a comet's solid head. Some enormous heavenly body coming swiftly and meeting us head-on would instantly turn both itself and our entire globe into flames.

Russia's Supply of Paper. Russia is more or less dependent upon Finland for its paper supply, partly because of the Finnish manufacturers' free use of improved machinery and the application of late discoveries in chemistry.

Purify Your Blood. The cause of pimples, boils and other eruptions, as well as of that tired feeling and poor appetite, which are so common in the spring, is impure and impoverished blood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla. The best way to purify and enrich the blood, as thousands of people know by experience, is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Accept no substitute, but insist on having Hood's.

SNAKE IS EXPERT ANGLER

Upton Sinclair Tells How Ocean Grove Man Used a Reptile in Procuring Mince of Fish.

Upton Sinclair, at a dinner in Greenwich, said of the trust:

"We are told that the trusts have brought business management to a finer point than the world has ever seen before. That is perhaps true. I have no doubt it is quite as true as the Ocean Grove man's fish story."

"An Ocean Grove man was walking beside Fletcher Lake one day eating a sandwich. As the sandwich, a 'college' one, contained too much bread, he flung the upper half into the water, and immediately a host of fish bubbled around it, and bit by bit it began to disappear."

"The Ocean Grove man had no fishing tackle, but just then his eye alighted on a black snake in the brush, and, remembering that his grandfather had often told him of the black snake's skill in angling, he grabbed the reptile by the tail, ran with it to the lake, and held it over the struggling fish."

"The snake, true to its reputation, showed itself a born angler, and the Ocean Grove man soon had forty fish daily. He declares that, a couple of days later, as he was passing the same spot again, something rubbed gently against his leg. He looked down and smiled. It was his old friend the black snake, eager for more sport."

Keeping Record of Ties. The Lehigh Valley railroad has adopted a plan for recording the age of every new cross-tie on the system. This will enable the company to determine with mathematical accuracy the relative efficiency of the different woods and the value of the creosote preservation treatment.

It is done in this way. First, the dating nails are manufactured, with the proper numerals on the heads, indicating the year; for example, "11" meaning the year 1911. Then one of these nails is driven into each new tie as it is laid on the track. Thus in the future the maintenance of way experts will be able upon the replacement of a tie to know just how long it has lasted.

The steadily rising price of lumber compels the railroads to use wood that has undergone "treatment" to prevent decay. It is expected that the injection of creosote oil into the pores of the wood will double its life.

Best Splice for Wire.

The best form of splice for galvanized iron wire, according to a writer in Electrical World, is one in which the wire is twisted to form five complete turns in what is known as the neck of the splice, after which the splice is completed by means of four or five end turns, in which the end of each wire is turned in a close coil about a straight section of the other.

Tests of various splices show that the end turns have very little holding power, but that most of the holding power is due to the turns in the neck, and that a joint with five properly made turns in the neck will be as strong as the wire it is made of, and will yield but slightly at first until it is set, after which there is practically no yield up to the breaking point.

Simple. She—Why, I never saw you act so simple. He—Are you trying to compliment me, dear? "Compliment you? I should say not." "Well, you know some one has said that the greatest truths are the simplest, and so are the greatest men."

OHIO'S NEW SENATOR.

Beware of Tight Cough,
Precedes Pneumonia
Home-Made Syrup Loosens.

You can make a simple laxative cough syrup which will loosen the tightest cough in one hour and cure any cough or cold in a very short time. Here is the formula:

Essence Mentholaxene . . . 2 1/2 Ozs.
Granulated sugar syrup . . . 13 1/2 Ozs.

Make the syrup by using a pint of granulated sugar and a half pint of boiling water. Mix, stir and let cool. Then go to the drug store and buy a 2 1/2 oz. package of Essence Mentholaxene (concentrated), empty it into a pint bottle and fill up with the syrup. Take a spoonful every hour or two as needed and you will soon be entirely rid of your cough and cold. This relieves and cures old people quicker and surer than anything ever heard of, and it is just the for children, they like the taste so well.

Roll call in Wisconsin Assembly by Electricity.
Assemblyman Thomas Mahon Back of the Plan to Simplify Voting.

Madison, Wis.—Even the fertile brain of Thomas A. Edison, inventor of the phonograph, never dreamed that his electrical discoveries might be applied to relieve chief clerks in legislatures, the world over, from calling the roll of its members for voting purposes. Assemblyman Thomas Mahon has introduced a bill in the Wisconsin legislature, and back of it is a scheme which will enable the calling of the roll of 100 names and announcing the vote in less than a minute, a saving of nearly 15 minutes time on every roll call.

Mahon's bill and device would necessitate the installation of two electric lines on the desk of each member. One he proposes to vote "yes" and on the other to vote "no." By means of a machine on the chief clerk's desk the individual vote of each member will be recorded and finally the results of the "yes," "no" and the "absent" columns are totaled, ready to be announced by the speaker. The plan and bill are still under consideration.

The author of the bill is a cripple, who goes from place to place by means of two crutches or in a wheel chair. He earned his way through the University of Wisconsin selling penmanship and was elected to the legislature this year because of his vigorous championing of the cause of Senator La Follette.

Waste Land Grows Rubber.

Wide tranches of waste land on the island of Singapore are now being set out in rubber plants, which seem to do well. In Malacca there were formerly square miles of land covered with baling, the hiding place of tigers and other big game, which have been transformed into fine rubber plantations.

Dismarek Was Superstitious. The great Prince Dismarek was not without superstition and this always was noticeable on the eve of the new year. From nine o'clock that night until after midnight he would not take water in any circumstances from a glass. It was an ancient tradition in the chancery of the family that one who set the legend at defiance would pass through a serious illness.

How To Surely Get Rid Of Rheumatism

Phenomenal Results Of Positive Antidote To Uric Acid.

The first case or two of the positive antidote found for uric acid, gives immediate relief in all forms of rheumatism, gout, lumbago and kidney trouble, and quickly brings on a cure. Every man and woman who has already tried it knows that this statement is true.

This antidote, called the "Pain Rheumatism Cure," has already cured over 1,000 cases of rheumatism. As an illustration, it cured Mrs. Mary E. Thorne of Owasco, Mich., 37 years old, of a 11-year case of rheumatism in 2 days. It cured Miss Kingsley, the well-known ballet dancer of Flint, Mich., of an excruciating case inside of a week. And many other cases have proven that it is the world's cure for rheumatism.

The "Pain Rheumatism Cure," moreover, is absolutely free from all dangerous drugs, stimulants or narcotics, free from opium, morphine, alcohol, cocaine, ether, chloroform or alcohol and is guaranteed so to the United States Government.

"Pain Rheumatism Cure" sold at $1.00 a bottle by all leading druggists, or will be sent prepaid on receipt of $1.00, or $2.00 for $2.00, by The Pain Rheumatism Cure, Flint, Mich.

"One Touch of Nature Makes the Tiles Made by Saxons. In the north of Staffordshire, within the parish boundaries of Stoke-upon-Trent, lies the district called the Potteries. Though little is known of the earliest days of its history it is certain that tiles were made there by the Saxons, as some have been found during excavations made in recent times, and fragments of cooking and domestic utensils, probably of Roman origin, were discovered there also.

Love in England. "In England," says the London Daily Mail, "love dwells and remains in the inmost secret recesses of the soul; it does not circulate about in the air. That is why the air in England is somewhat cold. And that is why closed up hearts there burn so intensely. For the English love is not the delightful occupation of youth, it is the very warp through which the whole life is woven."

GOLD DUST will sterilize your kitchen things and make them wholesome and sanitary GOLD DUST does more than clean—it sterilizes and leaves your kitchen things sanitariously safe. The ordinary soap-washed utensil is not fit to eat from, because soap does not cleanse as thoroughly as it should—does not kill germs of decay which are bound to lurk in oft-used utensils.

Besides its cleansing virtues, GOLD DUST has the merit of doing work quickly, and saving your strength. It will do most of the cleaning without your assistance, and do it, too, in a quicker and more thorough manner than will soap or other cleansers.

GOLD DUST makes pot and pan spick and span.

GOLD DUST is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package offers greater economy.

Here is Good Cheer for the Stay-At-Homes

In conversation with Geo. S. Parker of the Parker Pen Co., who recently returned from a two months' trip through the West in which he visited practically all the larger cities of the Pacific Coast as well as those of importance on the way, Mr. Parker in answer to the question, "Did you find any place you had rather live in than Janesville, Rock County and Wisconsin?" he said: "No, sir. I tell you that while the West is nice, some cities are fine, yet this is the best all around country I have yet seen. Janesville for me."

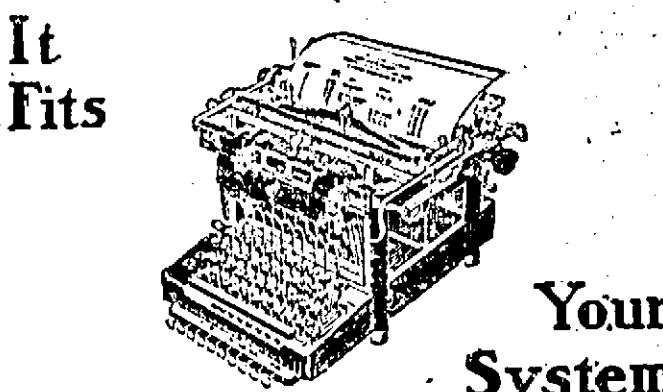

Amos Rehberg is back from California. He answers the question in the same way.

A. E. Bingham says he found a man in New Orleans who says, "Nothing too good for Wisconsin people. You come from 'God's country.'"

It's so, always so. We don't appreciate the exceptional qualities of this city and country. This middle west is the backbone of the country and Janesville is the best little city in the middle west.
